

SMSC Week

SMSC Week takes place during the final week of the Summer Term. SMSC Week offers our students the opportunity to experience activities with a spiritual, moral, social and cultural focus. The aim of the week is to raise awareness and educate our students on the key issues which affect them personally and the wider world in which they are growing up in.

Students will follow a modified timetable for the week and will be involved in a range of activities which will allow them to experience working in different environments and with different groups of people. As well as working with school staff, students will also work closely with employers, artists, health professionals and visiting experts from a variety of backgrounds.

The week will be captured by the student-led SMSC Week Magazine team. Our roving reporters will spend the week around the school recording the event. They will then produce an e-magazine so everyone has the chance to see what has happened during the week.

As we approach SMSC week more details will appear on the SMSC page of the school website.
