

The Torch

Our weekly roundup, shining a light on life in Bridlington School

Round Up and Super Successes:

This week we have celebrated Science Week. British Science Week is a ten-day celebration of science, technology, engineering and maths. This year's theme was connections. Mrs Goodall delivered assemblies to all year groups and spoke passionately about her love for science, there are lots of activities and experiments to complete at home on the British Science Week website: <https://www.britishtscienceweek.org/>

The 22nd of March to the 21st of April is Ramadan this year. We have a number of students who may choose to take part in Ramadan customs. As some of us may know, Ramadan is a month of fasting where some Muslims will choose to not eat or drink from sunrise to sunset. However, they are allowed to eat and drink at night and very early mornings. The aim is to become spiritually stronger and to gain compassion towards the poor and vulnerable.

We have also celebrated 'International Day for the Elimination of Racial Discrimination. We have discussed with students what it means to be Anti-racist. (to be actively against racism and not silent when confronted with it, even as a bystander.) We have then provided the opportunity for students to create an action plan that contributes to Anti-Racism at Bridlington School. We have also looked at what types of racist discrimination that people can experience. Tackling racism isn't always focused on punishment. However, a follow up education is a must when tackling incidents of racial discrimination. We are keen to see the action plans that some of our students will produce.

Student of the week

We would like to shout out Georgia T who won our internal design a book token competition. All entries have been submitted to the National Book Token competition – good luck!
